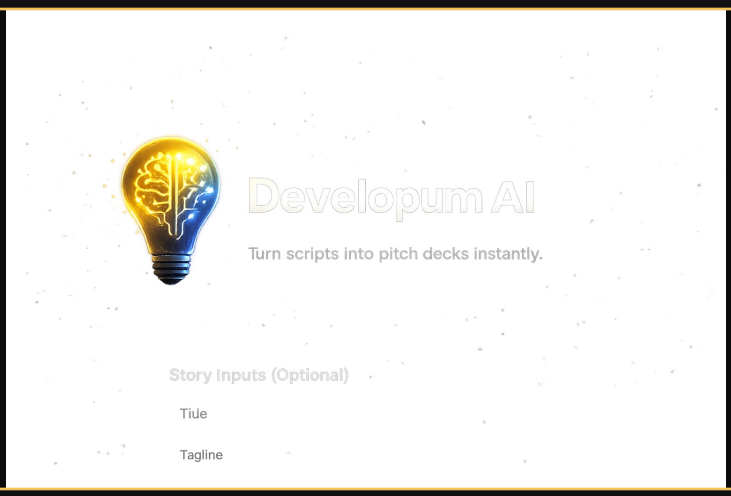
BOOKED ROLE REPORT

FINN

COURT JESTER



FULL ROLE SNAPSHOT

Finn currently reads like a role shaped by control, timing, and scene pressure. The present extraction finds 93 speaking beats across 75 scene(s), with the role most often living inside 'Hold Authority'. The job in booked-mode is continuity: keep the core behavior stable while allowing pressure to change pace, patience, and openness.

BEATS

- 93 speaking beats

WORLD

- feature / fantasy satire comedy

TONE

- playful, witty, satirical, a

ROLE CONTINUITY CENTER

What must stay consistent across scenes, takes, and shooting days.

BOOKED CONTINUITY

- Track where confidence cracks, even if behavior stays controlled.
- Let pressure affect pace before it affects volume.
- Carry unresolved tension into the next scene rather than resetting to neutral.
- Protect consistency of listening behavior across takes and scenes.

SCENE PRIORITIES

- Page 3: Stay in Command — Stay grounded and specific. Quiet command usually wins this beat.
- Page 3: See What's There — Let the thinking show. The audience should feel them assembling the truth in real time.
- Page 3: Keep Control — Stay grounded and specific. Quiet command usually wins this beat.
- Page 3: Drop the Intel — Don't over-explain. Drop the intel with the confidence of someone who's been watching for a long time.

EMOTIONAL TRIGGERS

- Humiliation
- Status shifts
- Public spectacle
- Unexpected danger

LOOK / BEHAVIOR

- Carry status in posture before dialogue.
- Let movement reflect court awareness and survival instinct.

SCENE JOURNEY MAP

93 beats grouped by type. Coaching note + 3 pulled scenes per pattern.

HOLD AUTHORITY

- 47 beats · Page 3 – Page 32
- The baseline state of this role. The danger is flatness — keep it textured. Authority that never wavers reads as bored, not powerful.
- Continuity: This is the baseline control state. Keep it textured so it does not flatten.

■ PAGE 3

- 9. INT. JESTER DRESSING ROOM – CONTINUOUS
- "Oh it is definitely happening."

■ PAGE 3

- 9. INT. JESTER DRESSING ROOM – CONTINUOUS
- "One, you're not a noble. Two, you're in serious trouble."

■ PAGE 4

- 14. INT. SECRET TUNNEL – NIGHT
- "It does."

SCENE JOURNEY MAP

READ THE SITUATION

- 11 beats · Page 3 – Page 22
- The character is assembling a picture in real time. Intelligence is the weapon. Let the audience watch the pieces connect.
- Continuity: Track what the character now knows after this beat. Every subsequent scene inherits this new information.

■ PAGE 3

- 9. INT. JESTER DRESSING ROOM – CONTINUOUS
- "I run messages for half the castle. Which means I know two things."

■ PAGE 6

- 23. INT. CASTLE CORRIDOR – LATER
- "Cedric planted something, didn't he?"

■ PAGE 7

- 31. INT. TUNNEL CHAMBER – CONTINUOUS
- "This isn't normal. Nobody stores documents down here."

SCENE JOURNEY MAP

NAVIGATE DANGER

- 10 beats · Page 11 – Page 20
- These are instinct beats. The character acts before they think. Stay in the body — deliberation kills the urgency of these scenes.
- Continuity: Physical state continuity matters here — injuries, exhaustion, adrenaline. Track what the body carries out of these scenes.

■ PAGE 11

- 47. EXT. GREY PASS – AMBUSH
- "Run!"

■ PAGE 14

- 67. EXT. ARENA – CONTINUOUS
- "Just stay on the horse!"

■ PAGE 14

- 70. EXT. TOURNAMENT ARENA – MOMENTS LATER
- "Elias! We have to leave right now!"

SCENE JOURNEY MAP

PRESSURE FOR INFORMATION

- 7 beats · Page 4 – Page 15
- The character isn't just asking — they're tracking what the other person gives away with each answer. Play the listening as much as the questioning.
- Continuity: Track what the character learns here and let that new information change the next beat.

■ PAGE 4

- 15. INT. CASTLE COURTYARD – MORNING

■ PAGE 5

- 17A. INT. CASTLE TUNNEL – NIGHT

■ PAGE 10

- 41. INT. CASTLE CORRIDOR – LATER
- "Cedric would never send you anywhere helpful."

SCENE JOURNEY MAP

TEST AND PROBE

- 6 beats · Page 3 – Page 19
- This beat is a read. The character is listening for something in the response. The probe only works if it doesn't feel like one.
- Continuity: Track what the character learned from the reaction. The probe is only useful if they carry the read forward.

■ PAGE 3

- 10. INT. SECRET TUNNEL – NIGHT
- "Congratulations. You're now the most interesting fool in Valoria."

■ PAGE 4

- 16. EXT. ROYAL COURTYARD – DAY
- "Look at it this way — if they hate you, you'll at least be famous."

■ PAGE 5

- 19. EXT. FESTIVAL CROWD – LATER
- "Both, I think. Isabella smiles as Elias continues entertaining the crowd."

SCENE JOURNEY MAP

SHARE INTELLIGENCE

- 5 beats · Page 3 – Page 20
- The character controls through what they know. Each detail shared is a deliberate choice about what to reveal and when.
- Continuity: Protect what the character chose NOT to share here — that's as important as what they did reveal.

■ PAGE 3

- 10. INT. SECRET TUNNEL – NIGHT
- "Dozens. Runners use them. Spies probably use them too. Finn grins."

■ PAGE 4

- 14. INT. SECRET TUNNEL – NIGHT
- "Because in this castle... jokes can start one."

■ PAGE 13

- 59. EXT. TOURNAMENT TOWN – DAY
- "It's the Valen Tournament. Happens every year."

SCENE JOURNEY MAP

RESET AND MOVE FORWARD

- 2 beats · Page 13 – Page 23
- This is a pivot beat. The character absorbs what just happened and redirects — it should feel like a choice, not a collapse.
- Continuity: This beat shifts the energy. Let it feel like a clean redirect, not a full emotional reset.

■ PAGE 13

- 62. EXT. MARKET STALL – CONTINUOUS
- "Good. Then no one will recognize you."

■ PAGE 23

- 131. INT. PALACE CORRIDOR – SAME TIME
- "That doesn't sound good."

CONTROL THE ROOM

- 2 beats · Page 20
- Calm is the weapon here. The character is slowing the scene down on purpose. Every steady breath is an assertion of power.
- Continuity: This is a control beat. Keep the body and pace consistent so the authority feels earned.

■ PAGE 20

- 106. EXT. ROAD CHASE – CONTINUOUS
- "Hold on! The horse bolts down the road as Cedric's riders pursue them."

■ PAGE 20

- 110. EXT. FOREST EDGE – MOMENTS LATER
- "Quiet. They wait as the thunder of hooves fades into the distance."

SCENE JOURNEY MAP

CHALLENGE

- 1 beat · Page 7
- The character refuses to accept the other person's version of reality. Anchor the refusal — this was a choice, not a reaction.
- Continuity: The character refuses to accept the other person's reality. Keep the refusal grounded.

■ PAGE 7

- 30. INT. CASTLE TUNNELS – NIGHT
- "You said that yesterday."

EXPRESS THREAT

- 1 beat · Page 10
- Don't go to volume. The menace lives in specificity. The character knows exactly what they're capable of and wants the other person to feel that certainty.
- Continuity: The level of menace established here is the ceiling for every threat that follows.

■ PAGE 10

- 42. EXT. CASTLE COURTYARD – DAY
- "You still do that. Now people just try to kill you afterwards."

SCENE JOURNEY MAP

SET A BOUNDARY

- 1 beat · Page 19
- Play the clarity, not the anger. The line is already drawn. The beat is making the other person feel where it is.
- Continuity: This is where the line gets drawn. Play the clarity, not the anger.

■ PAGE 19

- 99. EXT. ABANDONED COURTYARD – MOMENTS LATER
- "And if we don't?"

SET-READY CHECKLIST

BEFORE CAMERA

- Know the scene's pressure level before you play it.
- Track what your character wants from each interaction.
- Mark where status rises, slips, or resets.
- Keep body language and listening behavior consistent across takes.
- Protect continuity more than novelty.